QUOTE FOR THE WEEK

“Climate change is actually a far more frightening thing right now than this pandemic because this pandemic will go away. But if we don’t address climate change with as much vigor as people are addressing the pandemic then the globe will heat up and we will reach a time when basically everywhere is not habitable to humans.”

- Jane Goodall

RCMW 52nd Anniversary Celebration & Sister Clubs Fellowship November 22, 2021

In the past months, the GAP team embarked on a project, entitled, "Feel The Beat". This was spearheaded by Annica Bartolome and Tessa Tordesillas, daughters of PP AP and PP Roque; was organized along exciting and fun-filled two-hour weekly hip-hop and ballet Zoom lessons for twelve weeks.

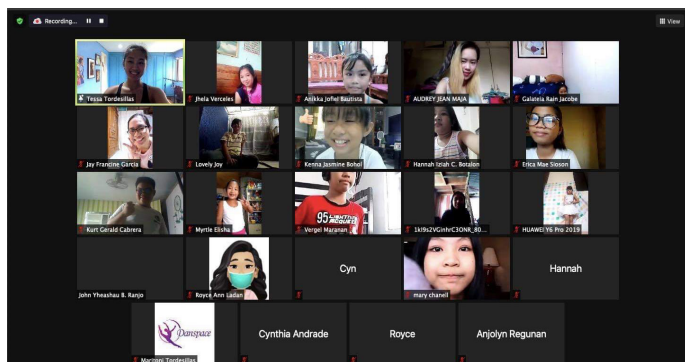

Their main goal was not only to provide the Gift Of Life beneficiaries with exercise but to use dance as an outlet of expression as well as improve the well-being of the children at times of pandemic.

Through the initiative of the Guardian Angel Program (GAP) team headed by PP AP Bartolome, we will be celebrating our 52nd year anniversary on November 22nd with a Zoom fellowship with our sister clubs. During this occasion, we will share the good news that since recovering from their heart surgeries, our Gift of Life (GOL) beneficiaries are leading normal active lives.

By way of background, GAP was created to ensure GOL beneficiaries complete post-operative care requirements and follow-up checkups; as well as a mechanism for continuing monitoring of the child's health; including addressing post-surgery complications that may arise.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Short-Term Realistic, Long-Term Optimistic, Always Opportunistic

“... we experience now the consequences of actions set in motion yesterday and decades ago and centuries ago ...” – Ian McHarg - To Heal the Earth.

I am devoting this piece to share some noteworthy takeaways from Scott Anthony's talk – “Innovation in a crisis: Why it is more critical than ever”.

We are in a crisis because we live in a world where constant, unpredictable change is now normal. The US Army War College introduced the term, VUCA, an acronym for Volatile, Uncertain, Complex and Ambiguous.

VUCA demands avoiding traditional approaches to day-to-day working. Scott's organization, Innosight – an innovative growth strategy consulting firm, believes traditional approach businesses adopt to drive growth, analyzing the past, in order to somehow predict the future; sadly, this is a case of facing the wrong way. On the other hand, Innosight looks at the world differently – they are in the future business.

Scott cited the work of Ian McHarg (the opening quote) that puts emphasis on chronological sequence to show relationships, dependencies and causation through time as an important tool to help us understand the present.

Scott's thesis, businesses have spent billions on internal venture capital, incubators and accelerators to spur innovation. Yet survey after survey indicates these efforts aren't producing results; as firms fail to address one major obstacle: the day-to-day habits and routines that regularly stifle innovation.

He poses this fundamental question for us to ponder, both in our businesses and across the various avenues of service of our club.

“... why is it so hard for organizations to do innovation is simply because innovation is something different. Organizations exist to do work they are currently doing, faster, better, cheaper, more effectively. They don't exist to do something different. What is even deeper behind

*"...businesses have spent billions on internal venture capital, incubators and accelerators to spur innovation. this is the biases, blind spots; all the while we think we are in control by doing detailed analysis ..."

Scott hacks this problem, using interventions called BEAN, combinations of Behavioral Enablers, Artifacts and Nudges that break down the innovation blockers; and advocating companies to create its own BEAN by identifying the creative behaviors it wants, examining what's getting in the way and then brainstorming ways to bust those bad habits.

To pick up on Scott's point surrounding behaviours, relatedly, experimental cultures with people that are open to new ideas drive innovation. I wrote in my Nov. 4th WSS article about experimenting as one of the discovery skills of innovators. There are a lot of testing of ideas in an experimentation organization, as well as a reliance on the data that such tests produce rather than the untested opinions that dominate decision-making. I actually would like to see more experimentation (and learning) across the club, to move us forward more progressively, embracing the future.

In closing, Scott Anthony shared an inspirational story that could help us to persist, at pace, on our innovation initiatives, which is found in Jim Collin's book - Good to Great (GTG). Admiral James Stockdale was the highest-ranking US military officer in the Hanoi Hilton POW camp during the Vietnam War; where he spent eight years under brutal conditions.

Collins found that every GTG initiative embraced the Stockdale Paradox: "... you must never confuse faith that you will prevail in the end - which you can never afford to lose - with the discipline to confront the most brutal facts of your current reality, whatever they might be."

In Collins' book, every GTG company faced significant adversity along the way to greatness. In every case, the management team responded with a powerful psychological duality. On the one hand, they stoically accepted the brutal facts of reality. On the other, they maintained an unwavering faith in the endgame and a commitment to prevail as a great company, despite the brutal facts.

Scott says the same mindset is necessary to live in the VUCA world: short-term realistic, long-term optimistic and his addition to the Stockdale Paradox, always opportunistic.

As explained by Scott, rather than moving reactively to events, innovation strategy requires identifying high-potential opportunities for growth, and pursuing groundbreaking ideas to accelerate that growth.

Collins found that every GTG initiative embraced the Stockdale Paradox: "... you must never confuse faith that you will prevail in the end - which you can never afford to lose - with the discipline to confront the most brutal facts of your current reality, whatever they might be."

Scott's counsel, find the opportunities that will help us navigate the disruptive changes of the future.

Speaking of the future, join me in getting into conversation with our guest speaker next Thursday - Federico R. Lopez, Chairman and CEO, First Philippine Holdings, Inc. as he shares how his group of companies are living their commitment to forging collaborative pathways to a decarbonize and regenerative future.

Finally, as always, Makati West Men of Zest, let's execute on our theme, "Increase Our Capacity to Serve" and remember our winning 3R's: Recognize, Retain and Recruit.

Scott says the same mindset is necessary to live in the VUCA world: short-term realistic, long-term optimistic and his addition to the Stockdale Paradox, always opportunistic.

Hello to my fellow Men of Zest!

It is my pleasure to forward to you our club's first quarterly summary review for RY 2021 – 2022. Notwithstanding the pandemic, we had a great start for this rotary year. I know you are quietly proud of our achievements. But our work is never done. We need to continue to increase our capacity to serve. The need is the call! We have no choice. It is spirit of our club to serve!

Keep up the good work and let's continue to recruit our colleagues, friends, and family to join us – so we can work together in fulfilling the task ahead of us.

Please use our first quarter review as a recruitment tool to further our mission. Attached is a suggested letter you could use (copy and paste) to forward to your prospective members. Another attachment is a fact sheet that provides more detail of our flagship projects; in case you would like to forward that as well.

Men of Zest, you have always come through. Thank you, guys!
You rock!

Franco del Rosario
President RY 21-22

SUGGESTED LETTER FOR PROSPECTIVE MEMBERS

Hi (prospective member name),

I hope all is well. It was good to talk to you. As mentioned, I'd like to tell you more about our Rotary club of Makati West.

Let me just mention a few projects, starting with our flagship project, the Gift of Life (GOL) Program, which provides free heart operations for poor children with congenital heart disease.

Our other major projects are: "Gift of Sight", which provides free cataract surgeries. We also have the "Gift of Mobility", and RCMW has made available free artificial limbs.

We have regular weekly meetings on Thursdays via zoom. We have established what we call, "fireside chats (FSC)" which are held via zoom at 5:30 p.m. on Fridays. FSCs are very informal and most are led by our members on mostly non-business topics like restaurants, alcohol, hobbies and enthusiasts of things like cars, travel; basically any collectible item.

In closing I wish to tell you that in everything we do, we have a lot of fun; as that is very much a part of the culture of Makati West. Aside from being firm believers of "service above self" we are about fun; as that's who we are: fun people. Our club has no attendance requirements. I invite you to check us out!

In fact, to give you an idea of what our club is all about and about our fun loving members, I have attached a short one page fact sheet of a few of our community projects as well as our club's first quarter summary review. Please visit our website: rcmakatiwest.ph. I am inviting you to attend our regular meetings and our fireside chats.

Please let me know your availability and I will forward to you the zoom link; as well as any questions. I may be reached at (your mobile number).

Below is our guest speakers for the next several weeks, by zoom.

Nov. 25th – Federico R. Lopez, Chairman and CEO, First Philippine Holdings, Inc.

Dec. 2nd - Jaime Flor Cruz, Former Beijing Bureau Chief, CNN

Dec, 9th - Ana de Ocampo, President and CEO, Wild Flour and Bakery

Thank you and I look forward to seeing you in one of our meetings soon!
